A dream, a breath, a froth of fleeting joy.
Who buys a moment's mirth to wait a week,
Or sells eternity to get a toy?"

May God Preserve the Crown of St. Stephen

U.S.A.-Vatican Betray Christian Hungary

Cardinal Mindszenty and Christian Relic Bartered to Achieve Soviet Co-Existence

By PAUL PULITZER

How the U.S.-Vatican axis, secretly and with Machiavellian skill, cunningly implemented and have almost completed a joint effort to appease Moscow for mutual profit, is a wonder to behold. The triumvir in charge of the Kremlin, like the global chess masters they really are, played the game just as brilliantly. We, the American people, along with the Roman Catholic laity and all Christendom, were expected to remain docile in our ignorance of what the U.S.-Vatican-Moscow game plan was all about. But, as all diplomatic secrets have an uncanny habit of seeping through curtains of official silence to become public knowledge, we now have a very good idea of what it will cost President Nixon and the Vatican to play the dangerous game of "Ostpolitik." The cost of admission includes the removal of Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty from sanctuary in the American embassy at Budapest, his exile into permanent silence, and the return to Hungary of the sacred crown of St. Stephen. As a quid pro quo, it is already quite evident that the Kremlin assured the Vatican of a broadening of the present detente between them and, to help appease possible opposition to this gambit in the U.S., offered to discuss the repayment of Soviet war debts. It follows that, this possibility, has already been headlined in our press, and commented upon over the radio and on TV.

This entire game plan was implemented in such a way as to make certain that the American people, the world's Roman Catholic laity, and all Christendom would find it extremely difficult to follow the pattern of deception. In fact, it is only by means of a diagnostic recapitulation of time-staggered events that any one can succeed in separating the wheat from the chaff in order to get at the truth.

Unraveling A Sinister Diplomatic Caper

Our recapitulation of time-staggered events leading up to the forced eviction of Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty from AMERICAN SOIL within Hungary and the present furor, particularly over the possible return of the sacred Crown of St. Stephen to Hungary, among American-Hungarians and millions of Hungarian expatriates around the world, must begin in July, 1971, during the "Budapest '71" exhibition in the Hungarian capital's Museum of Fine Arts. On this particular occasion, Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, accompanied by Assistant Postmasters General James R. Holland and William D. Dunlap, Jr., were present allegedly for the unveiling of an Apollo 15 stamp exhibit, featuring the "Decade in Space" first-day cover actually post-marked on the moon's surface. Immediately subsequent developments, however, stimulate the suspicion that these three men, using the stamp exhibit as a cover, actually went to Budapest for more important reasons. For, immediately after the close of "Budapest '71", and on Aug. 3, 1971, Istvan Darvasi, vice-president of the Hungarian Peace Council, announced to 50 American professors, conveniently visiting Hungary at that particular time, that negotiations for the return to Hungary of the Holy Crown of St. Stephen, as well as the return of other Hungarian crown jewels in the custody of the U.S. since the end of World War II, had been resumed. Confident that these negotiations were being carried on in a spirit of cooperation on the part of the United States, he spoke with great assurance. That the 50 "professors" just happened to be present at the time, cannot be accepted as being purely coincidental.

During the week of Aug. 19, 1971, Hungary celebrated the millennium of the birth of its first Christian king, St. Stephen. Being the first Christian and Apostolic King of Hungary, at first it would appear strange, indeed, for an atheistic regime to permit such a celebration. However, what preceded the occasion brings the ploy into clearer focus. In order to commemorate the occasion, claimed the Hungarian Government, the U.S. was asked to return the sacred crown of the idol and hero of the Hungarian people. The time not being quite right for such a return, instead Washington promptly returned St. Stephen's mummified right fist and $10-million in gold bullion seized during World War II and held in custody. Simultaneously, and as if on coordinated cue, Pope Paul VI saluted officially atheistic Hungary by telling 6.3-million Hungarian Roman Catholics that they were proof that faith survives social and political changes. Not many of Hungary's 6.3-million Roman Catholics heard the pope's congratulations over the radio. Moreover, neither Washington nor the Vatican bothered to take cognizance of the ironical fact that, while the peal of church bells and the roar of military jets mingled in the air over Budapest in commemoration of Hungary's 1,000 years of Christianity, for the past 21 years Christian Hungary, as well as the Cardinal-Primate of Hungary, were prisoners of the officially atheistic, Hungarian Government. Even more ludicrous were these gestures of appeasement from the Vatican and the U.S., in light of the fact that the entire performance was a mockery of Christianity in the sense that the occasion of the millennium was used as an excuse by the present Hungarian regime to mark its accomplishments since 1949, rather than to rekindle remembrances of St. Stephen. To this, we can also add the observation, based upon impeccable sources of information, that, during the celebration, thousands upon thousands of Hungarian Roman Catholics were denied participation in the 9 A.M. Mass celebrated by Archbishop Jozsef Ijjas, chairman of the Hungarian Episcopate, and ten other bishops in Budapest's historic Basilika, where the mummified right fist of St. Stephen, recently returned by the U.S., was shown to those who were fast enough to get into the Church before the doors were slammed shut.

With the close of the staged millennium festivities, and with the U.S. and the Vatican having signaled their goodwill and intent, the stage was set for the next phase in the joint U.S.-Vatican caper to appease Moscow.

Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty's Exodus

On Tuesday, September 28, 1971, the following communique was broadcast over the entire world's radio network: (Quote) — "Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty ended fifteen years of self-imposed exile in the American embassy at Budapest, Hungary, today and flew to the Vatican in Rome. The Communist State Radio in Budapest says that the Cardinal was allowed to fly to Rome as the result of an agreement between the Hungarian Government and the Vatican." (End of Quote). Thus, it happened that the fish bone stuck in the throat of the Kremlin was removed, the primary stumbling block to the Vatican's plan for rapprochement and detente with communism was shunted aside, and an embarrassing obstacle to building bridges of understanding and peaceful co-existence between Washington and Moscow was blasted out of the way. Above all, the free world's only living symbol of militant resistance to atheistic communism and the only man around whom a counter force could have rallied, if he could have been permitted to come to the West, by this means was neutralized and silenced forever. President Nixon's route to Moscow has now been cleared for travel and the Vatican can accomplish, within the limitations set by the agreement it entered into with the Kremlin, whatever it may have in mind behind the Iron Curtain.

The ordeal Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty went through at the hands of the Hungarian regime, because he dared to defy them on behalf of his faith, is well known throughout the free world. For over a quarter of a century he endured 10 years of solitary confinement and torture at the hands of sadistic AVOs, yet could never be broken. During the Hungarian Revolution of 1956, he was the first prisoner released by the Hungarian Freedom Fighters. When Khrushchev smothered the revolt in a bloodbath, the Cardinal-Primate sought and was granted asylum in the American embassy in Budapest. There he remained in seclusion for 15 long years in the hope that his people would not lose the faith while he was present in Hungary, but on American soil. During all this time, he vowed that he would never leave Hungary no matter what pressures were put upon him to do so. It would be naive, therefore, to believe that he left Hungary of his own free will. What he said upon his departure, confirms this view. "This is the heaviest cross of my life," said the 79-year old martyr.

That Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty was forced to bow under papal pressure, has not been denied by the Vatican at all. Neither was it denied that this pressure was exerted by the Vatican in collusion with the Government of the United States and for the sake of joint "Ostpolitik." Nor was it denied that, in connection with his exodus, the sacred Crown of St. Stephen was the pay-off. In fact, this was revealed in the October 21, 1971 edition of the SALZBURGER NACHRICHTEN, an Austrian daily paper enjoying great respect throughout the free world. But the best confirmation came from Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty himself!

Somehow, the aged Cardinal, who is now confined in the Pazmaneum next door to the U.S. embassy in Vienna, managed to get a letter forwarded to Congressman Lawrence J. Hogan. In it, he thanked the congressman for his efforts to stop the return of the Crown of St. Stephen to Hungary and expressed a wish that the sacred relic remain in U.S. custody for the time being. WHETHER HIS WISH WILL BE GRANTED, NOW DEPENDS UPON THE AMERICAN PEOPLE!

More Time-Staggered Events

On November 28, 1971, a UPI release datelined from Washington inferred that under no conditions would the U.S. consider returning the Crown of St. Stephen and implied that, if it did, a congressional revolt would put a stop to it. But, almost immediately after the publication of this news report, Lajos Lederer reported from London that, indeed, secret talks were already in progress between the U.S. State Department and the Hungarian regime. He also reported that Washington's willingness to consider the return of the crown, which is the oldest Christian symbol of independence and secular authority in Europe, was attributed by insiders to President Nixon's new policy toward the communist world, the aim being to return the crown to Hungary before Nixon's visit to Moscow in May as a gesture to ease East-West tensions.

On December 1, 1971, Congressman John R. Rarick hit the floor of Congress with a blistering speech demanding that the betrayal of the Holy Crown of St. Stephen of Hungary must be prevented at all costs. His speech was printed in full in that day's issue of the Congressional Record. On February 9, 1972, the Hon. Ella T. Grasso of Connecticut did the same, but also provided proof that the U.S. had assured Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty on February 6, 1972, that the crown would remain in American custody.

CROWN OF ST. STEPHEN, symbol of Christian rule in Hungary and the ultimate triumph of Christianity in all Europe. A symbolic relic of tremendous political and religious significance.

On February 20, 1972, spearheaded by the Hungarian Freedom Fighters of New Jersey, American-Hungarian elements throughout the United States began to voice public protests against any return of the sacred relic to Hungary. Surprisingly, they were joined by many members of the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church. It is not unreasonable to assume that this protest will attain cyclonic proportions in the not too distant future, especially if Washington has already secretly returned the relic to Budapest. Meanwhile, of course, the press, radio, and TV have stepped up their reportage of possible war-debt talks between Washington and Moscow and have gone so far out on the limb in their enthusiasm as to claim that only $500-million separates the two from a settlement. The purpose behind this obvious tomfoolery is to calm down possibilities of militant protest over the return of the Crown of St. Stephen to Hungary for fear that, if there is an eruption, Moscow will refuse to pay us what it owes. To add to all this noise and to the confusion, we are also expected to believe all of a sudden that there is a resurgence of religiosity behind the Iron Curtain, even though on August 10, 1967, a hearing before the Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives, 90th Congress, First Session, brought out conclusive evidence to the contrary.

It does seem from all this that, whatever Washington may have in mind regarding the return of the sacred Crown of St. Stephen, its propaganda machinery is already in full swing to soften up the ignorant masses to accept the idea.

Significance of the Crown

St. Stephen of Hungary (977-1038), the son of Geza, Duke of Hungary, embraced Christianity, was baptized into the faith, and assumed the name of the first Christian martyr when he ascended the Hungarian throne at the age of 20. During his reign, he made the conversion of his subjects his primary domestic objective, dedicated his country to the Blessed Virgin, and for such efforts obtained from Rome the title of Apostolic King. In the year 1000 A.D., Pope Sylvester II presented to him the Holy Crown which, today, is known with reverence as the Holy Crown of St. Stephen.

To Hungarians everywhere, to Roman Catholics the world over, to Christendom, and to all peoples behind the Iron Curtain especially among those who still remember faith of their fathers, the sacred Crown of St. Stephen is a symbolic relic of tremendous religious and political significance. For, whoever possesses the crown rules over Hungary as a Christian nation and as defender of Western Civilization. To the peoples of other captive nations, the crown represents hope of eventual freedom, as well as the eventual supremacy and sovereignty of Christianity. It follows then that, inasmuch as the authority to rule Hungary rests within the Crown of St. Stephen and as confirmed by Hungarian history for almost 1,000 years, possession of this priceless treasure would provide the present Hungarian regime with a cloak of historical legitimacy. It would also tend to squelch any possibilities of a rebirth of Christian supremacy and sovereignty over the state, and would also tend to nip in the bud any hopes for a revival of religiosity and a renewal of freedom. Needless to add, it would also signify the death of Christianity behind the Iron Curtain through the merger of Church and State.

To Christians the world over, the sacred Crown of St. Stephen means a very great deal. Yet, it is a foreign-born, naturalized American Jew who is engineering the return of this sacred relic to the atheistic, Hungarian state. Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's top foreign policy advisor and architect of the Nixon Administration's new policy towards Sino-Soviet-American relations, is the man responsible for the secret, diplomatic machinations already underway to return the relic to Hungary BEFORE President Nixon leaves for Moscow. The return is supposed to serve as a signal to Moscow and the Soviet-bloc of captive nations that our government recognizes Soviet supremacy over all of the territory enclosed behind the Iron Curtain. In other words, it would be a re-confirmation of the agreement reached at the Potsdam Conference in which Europe was split into two spheres of inviolate influence. The man handling the negotiations with the Hungarian Government is U.S. Ambassador Alfred Puhon, whose pro-Soviet inclinations are a matter of official record.

What Is Being Done

Led by U.S. Representative Lawrence J. Hogan (R-Maryland), thirty-nine members of the House have endorsed a Concurrent Resolution (H. Con. Res. 476) expressing the sense of Congress that the Holy Crown of Saint Stephen should remain in the safekeeping of the United States Government until Hungary once again functions as a constitutional government established by the Hungarian people through free choice. This group of congressmen is also pressing for a public hearing before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, while Congressman Hogan wrote a letter to President Nixon in which he requested presidential comment on the reported negotiations to return the crown to Hungary. As of this writing, he has not been favored with a reply.

In the Senate, Senator Robert Dole (R-Kansas) and Senator Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.) are heading up a group of senators pushing the adoption of the same kind of concurrent resolution as the one introduced in the House.

While awaiting a decision on their resolution, this group of senators has begun to circulate a memorandum on the Holy Crown prepared by Dr. Bela C. Maday, copies of which have already been delivered to the White House and among all members of the Senate.

This is where the matter rests at the moment. But, unfortunately, no one has thought of asking the State Department how it got possession of the crown, where it is now, who is in charge of it, and what it intends to do with it — if it still has it. It has been said that the relic rests in a safe place at Fort Knox. But, so far, no one can be found who has seen it at any time during the past 25 years!

What Must Be Done

Actually, what will finally be done with the sacred Crown of St. Stephen, within which is embodied the right to rule, depends almost entirely upon public reaction to the pressing issue. That is, if the relic has not already been returned to Hungary in secrecy. Either way, the voice of the people must be heard in Washington.

COMMON SENSE calls upon all of its readers to order more copies of this issue for distribution so that as many people as possible will know about this case. In addition, COMMON SENSE calls upon all of its readers to either write, wire, or telephone their elected representatives in Washington with the demand that they back either the senatorial or congressional, concurrent resolutions mentioned in this article.

By whatever means possible, the American people must stop the return of the Holy Crown of St. Stephen to Hungary! And, if already secretly returned, they MUST let it be known loud and clear that such perfidy will no longer be tolerated in American Government!

U.S.A., A DOOMED, DEFEATED NATION

By FRED FARREL

In the 1930's organized patriotism had some great people. We had Father Coughlin blanketing the country with truth via his radio broadcasts and his newspaper "Social Justice." Huey Long stood out as the last really authentic American politician. Charles A. Lindbergh pleaded constantly for an end to the evil policies which were destroying American civilization. We remember the late Elizabeth Dilling with a special fondness.

Why were these people not able to save America?

Mainly, the avenues of political power were blocked to them by the meathead conservatives. In a real democracy, the "out" party ought certainly to respond to a broad wave of public sympathy running contrary to the policies of the "in" party. In the 1930's we had the false pretense of having "two parties." There was really only one party, the JEWISH PARTY, the Franklin D. Roosevelt Party. The lord high moguls of the Republican Party, estimable meathead conservatives one and all, resolutely sabotaged the Republican Party in order to make sure that Franklin D. Roosevelt stayed in the White House.

What Is a "Conservative" Today?

A Conservative is about the same thing as a Communist. He believes in a quaint old nineteenth century economic determinism. He believes in subservience to the Jews. He makes a great pother about his sound Conservative principles. Upon close examination, these quickly melt away. J.N. Pew and the other lord high moguls of the Republican Party always moved quickly to extinguish any possibility of a Republican Party victory against Roosevelt. They could have had Charles A. Lindbergh, Henry Ford, Father Coughlin, and Huey Long. They could have beaten Franklin D. Roosevelt with the greatest of ease. Jim Farley warned Roosevelt that he could be beaten. The establishment which controlled both parties did not want Roosevelt to be beaten. They manipulated both parties to make sure that it would not happen.

The lord high moguls of the American right wing are doing exactly the same thing today. Their watchdogs always move quickly to extinguish any spark of real intelligence which appears anywhere in any of the stupid and worthless right wing movements. They make sure that no right wing movement or patriotic movement will ever be anything except a booby trap for the deluded masses of patriots who flock into it. Fundamentally, the right wing is a traitor movement. Its function is to lead and limit the opposition, to channelize the American white majority to final ruin. It refuses to offer them any viable plan for real political action. It pimps for the Jews night and day.

"Saving the Country" and "Saving Us From Communism" have become such degenerate rackets that an honest man is no longer willing to associate himself with them.

What Are the Consequences

Of This Treachery by the Right Wing?

The American white majority are defeated. These proud people must bend their necks, bow their heads, and trot meekly into the Jewish slave pen. This is exactly what millions of them are doing right now. For years they have been marched briskly along a road which they did not wish to travel. They have been channelized and swindled and intellectually robbed. The Jews have sent wave after wave of terrific culture-destruction and character-destruction through their ranks. Their whole young generation has been morally, spiritually, and culturally wiped out. In addition, Jewish promotion of the drug culture actually has killed them in droves. This is plain murder, incited by a vast expenditure of Jewish money. The middle class will be plundered and reduced to barefoot poverty and hungry-belly destitution. They will exchange places with the Negro in American society. Today, they are absolutely doomed. They are politically disenfranchised. They have been expelled from history and are now merely a bawling herd of two-legged cattle owned by the Jews!

Where Were the Leaders Who Should Have Unified These People?

There were real leaders in the 1930's. Since the end of World War II, we have been saddled with motely packs of pseudo-patriots, with quacks, frauds, charlatans, and swindlers.

The worst of them, absolutely the worst, are the professional anti-Communists who are using a fake cult-myth to manipulate the American white majority into slavery. The cult-myth is a carefully organized system of lies. The anti-Communists never really attack Communism; they attack a straw man which they call Communism. They always cover up the real use of Communism as an adjunct to capitalism. They are always howling that we are in danger of a "Communist take-over." We are in no such danger. The Jews do not need a Communist revolution to take power in America. The Jew-capitalists have the country by the tail on a downhill pull. The purpose of the "take-over" myth is to divert the attention of the people from the guilty and corrupt American-Jewish ruling class. The American-Jewish ruling class are behind every evil which beset the country. In order to escape responsibility for their own acts, they have created the myth of the "subversive," who they say have "penetrated" our society from the outside. The lying anti-Communists try to make us believe that "subversives" are doing things which in fact could only be done by the ruling class.

Nothing can save the country! The country is lost! You are living in a doomed and defeated nation, a condemned firetrap, Nation-murder has already gone too far. Mere political action cannot save a country whose culture and morality are dead. Indeed, mere political activity of any kind is irrelevant to our most basic problems today. Governments are only the shadow of power. Real power resides in spiritual and intellectual systems. Nobody, absolutely nobody, has lifted a finger in forty years to try to protect the cultural life of the American white majority. Culturally they have been delivered to the Jews by the systematic abdication of all other elements.

The trouble with our ruling class is not political error. The trouble with them is wickedness. Their intentions toward us are entirely evil. If we wonder why they do not behave more favorably toward us, the answer is easily found! They hate us! In this atmosphere of poisonous hate, nihilism, and love of evil, mere political activity is a waste of time.

We are living in the corpse of a murdered nation. The murderers were the Jews. Today even the Jews are frightened. This collapsing house of cards will not give them an orderly and obedient slave society, as they hoped; it will plunge the whole world into unmanageable savagery and barbarism for centuries to come. In the U.S.A. today there is no longer any real basis for the cohesion of an orderly civilized society.

Some people invest their hopes in a "swing to the right" to save us. Such a "swing" will indeed come. The people demand a change; but they will not get a real change. The shabbos goyim who run the right wing today are mere front men for the Jews. When the swing to the right comes, the Jews will retreat into the background and will exercise their power through goy front men. The right wing is just as much a part of their conspiracy as the left wing.

How Can We Save America?

Yes, indeed, how can we save dear old Sodom and Gomorrah? It is a preposterous question. Saving this country is so far beyond the limits of possibility today that no honest man will promise such a thing. An honest man will tell you the truth. He will tell you, "Get out while the getting is good." That is the only way in which you will be able to save either your hide or your soul. This country is headed for a period of incredible wickedness within; the bankruptcy of international policy will bring military destruction from without. It is a close rat race as to which of these two dangers will finish the country first. America might as well withdraw from international affairs. We have no moral role to play, no worthwhile message of hope for mankind, no prestige in the world community. We are the world's largest Jewish colony and as a Jewish colony, we cannot expect to amount to much.

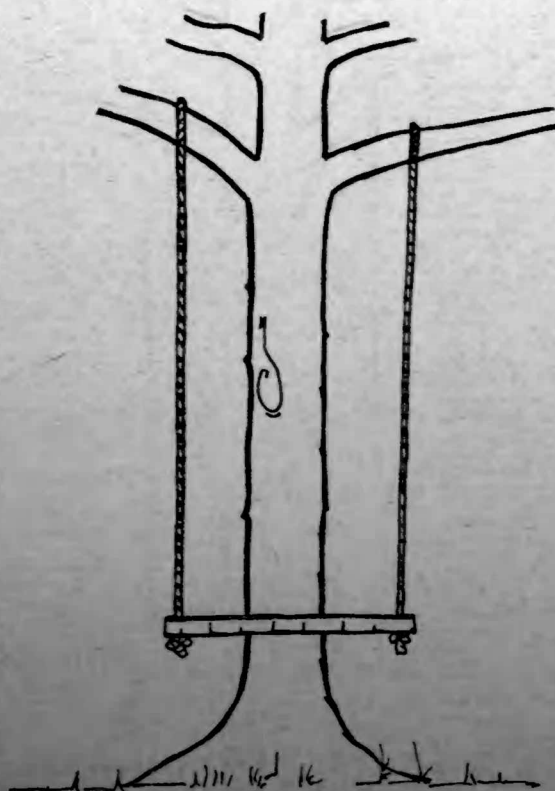

The Jews, having suffered reverses in their overseas intrigues, now need the power of this nation once more. They will drag this half-murdered and dying nation to its feet, and demand that it fight once more, not for itself, but for them. Bah! The phony patriots will beat the drums for the dirty Jew-gangster government in Washington. They will try to make us believe they are "Fighting Communism."

Today the right wing labors to disguise Jewish intrigue as American patriotism. What earthly good will it do them? A nation in which the principal race is in the process of being destroyed is worthless as a military power. The bombs which will end the life of this nation will blow the Jews as high as they will blow everybody else. What have the Jews gained by the destruction of America?

The degeneration of patriotic movements into the phony patrioteering racket is a part of our general decline toward the oblivion of Nineveh and Tyre. The primary cause of this decline is Jewish rule. The right wing people prattle about "economics" and they claim that they are "Fighting Communism." They do not address themselves to the central problem, the problem of getting the Jews off our necks. In the last twenty years Jewish rule not only has destroyed the last hope of American survival; it has destroyed American worthiness to survive.

We cannot encourage any hopes based upon the vain and stupid right wing movements of today. In the 1930's, we had people who had within them the real potential to save the country. We recall Father Coughlin and Charles A. Lindbergh and Elizabeth Dilling with fondness. Today's rabble of professional patrioteers are hardly worth the U-235 which, in the near-term future, will waft them into the stratosphere as radioactive isotopes and put an end to their stupid braying.

OPIUM AND JEWS

By OUR TAIWAN CORRESPONDENT

It is a common knowledge, of course, that the Jews in the past were closely associated with opium trade!

But who could dream in those "good, old days" that about a century later the Jews themselves will be a controversial "exportable commodity!"

It is not very probable that, as some Americans are thinking, the "fear of foreign opinion" is behind the decision of the Soviet leaders to increase the number of permits for emigration given to the Russian Jewry.

Being not complete idiots, Brezhnev, Kosygin, Marshal Grechko and the rest know quite well by WHOM the western "public opinion" is created which has, approximately, the same value as the Soviet "public opinion" expressed on the pages of Pravda.

Moscow, rather, did not wish to irritate Arabs who were much against even a symbolical influx of the Soviet Jews to Israel.

It took some time to persuade the Arabian leaders that a carefully-controlled "export" of Jews from the Soviet Union does not present any particular danger to them, AND SHOULD BE REGARDED IN THE SAME LIGHT AS THE EVER-INCREASING TRADE IN OPIUM AND OTHER NARCOTICS IN WHICH PEKING IS NOW BUSILY ENGAGED.

Let us, briefly, elucidate this point.

After the bloody downfall of Beria and his Jewish cohorts of Security Forces (summer of 1953) which kept the Soviet Union under subjugation for many years, the policies of the nation were drastically changed, and instead of being a friend of Israel, it turned into the "biggest enemy" of the Zionist Jews. (Words of Ben Gurion).

Having behind them years and years of Jewish oppression, the peoples of the Soviet Union hate and despise their Jews much more than they ever did before.

Although physical violence against Jews is not permitted, the atmosphere of sullen animosity makes the Jewish life in the Union less than pleasant.

The Soviet Authorities do their best to help the assimilation of the Jews with the ethnical groups within which they live.

This combined pressure of population and government is bringing forth its fruits, and hundreds of thousands of Jews — some say already about one million — abandoned their "Jewishness" and are considered as being Russians, Ukrainians, etc.

This process is irreversible — and those Jews are lost to Judaism forever. It is one of the main reasons why so much money and energy is now spent by the World Jewry to save the Russian Jews from that fate.

In the old Imperial Russia, the Jews were always the source of different troubles and they took the most active part in the organization of the revolutionary groups. According to the authoritative words of Lenin himself, the Communist Revolution of 1917 would NEVER SUCCEED without their energetic participation in it.

Now, when the Soviet Union took a most definite, anti-Zionist stand, the Jews still residing there could be even more dangerous to the new Soviet leadership which they hate, as one American writer said, with a "Messianic Hatred."

JUST AS IT WAS IN THE DAYS OF "TSARIZM," the Jewish-controlled western press is full with anti-Soviet vituperations, and the anti-Russian propaganda machine is working at full blast. The similarity is simply striking, and, quite obviously, the Soviet Jews are aware of this relentless campaign and ARE PSYCHOLOGICALLY PREPARED TO ACT AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION IF AND WHEN AN OPPORTUNITY ARISES.

In fact, as it was before the revolution in Russia, the Soviet cities are containing much of a foreign, highly-inflammable element and potential traitors who will help ANY ENEMY which might confront the nation in the future. . .

If you were one of the Soviet leaders, would YOU enjoy such a situation?

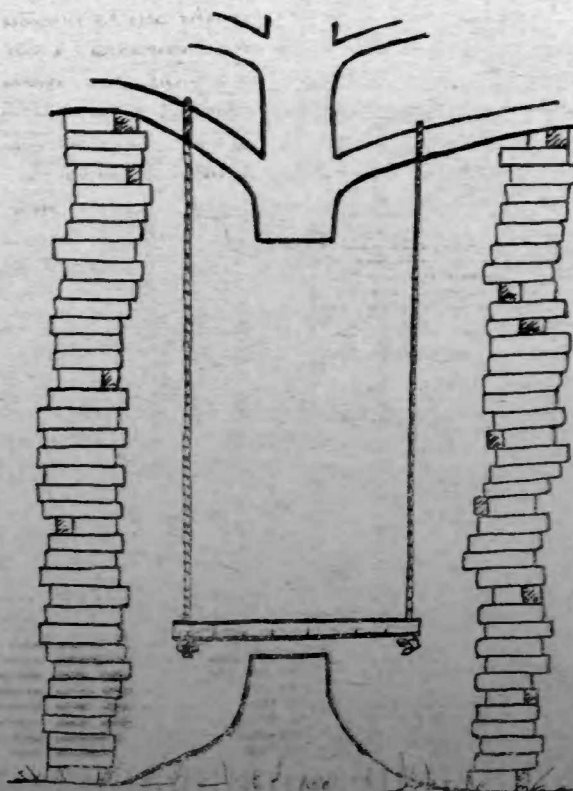

A traitor within is more dangerous than hundreds of enemies in the open, and since EVERY ZIONIST JEW under certain circumstances CAN and WILL be a traitor to the nation where he resides, he should be eliminated by all possible means.

And now a golden opportunity presents itself not only to get rid forever of this obnoxious human garbage, but also to gain some money in the process. As it is reported, the cost of exit permit and renouncing of the Soviet citizenship run as high as about U.S. $1,000 per head, plus transportation expenses paid to the Aeroflot. Except their precious selves, the Jews are permitted to take with them only a few trinkets. Their official destination is Israel, but it is quite obvious that at least 80% of them will soon settle in New York, or in other large American cities. Before departure the Jews are carefully screened by the KGB agents to prevent the escape of those who could be dangerous to the Arabs, or could be still useful to the Soviets.

The Jewish "export" is incredibly profitable to the Soviets which kill not two, but, at least, three birds with one stone: a treacherous element is expelled from the nation; cold cash is paid for its deportation; and the Soviet enemy, i.e. the United States, gets an additional injection of unsimilable poison into their veins.

Pound-by-pound the export of opium could be more profitable than that of Jews; but — and that is certain — the damage done by the narcotics to the importing nation cannot be compared even remotely with that which follows the intrusion of Zionist Jews into its borders!

EVERY LAW HAS A SANCTION!

By FRANK NILES

Nature expresses the laws of God. God makes no errors and Nature makes no mistakes. We either conform to the laws of God or pay the penalty for transgression.

A good analogy of the power of God is expressed in the moon-visits by the United States space program. Although the mathematicians with the aid of their calculating machines were fearful that an error in calculations would place a man's life in jeopardy, two small monkeys were sent on a 500-mile hop through the stratosphere to land unhurt. The next step was to send our first astronaut into space, who also survived the ordeal. The next step involved circling the earth by a manned spacecraft which also was recovered safely. Then finally, after careful analysis, the first moon shot by a manned spacecraft, which also was safely recovered. Three astronauts died due to an error, but with that one exception of miscalculation all attempts have been satisfactory.

The point of this analogy is simple to comprehend. The successes of the ventures were only completed by a strict adherence and respect for the natural laws of God. Strict conformation was essential for survival of the men involved. These men did not violate the laws of God, they conformed to those laws. God is love but demands strict obedience. To err is to suffer the consequences. God does not punish. We punish ourselves when we violate His laws.

God's laws extend throughout the whole stellar system — the speed of the earth turning on its axis, the speed with which it revolves around the Sun, plus the speed with which the whole system is moving in an endless larger orbit, reaching to infinity. It is staggering to realize that even though we are reclining, we still are moving at thousands of miles per hour. All moves with a precision that is baffling to the imagination. All this, plus the planet's gravitational pull, the thrust of the engines, which must exert a force strong enough to break the gravitational pull of the earth and the moon, must be computed without error or tragedy will be the pay-off!

It is indeed amusing to realize that man's ingenuity can conform to the laws of God in a scientific manner, yet is at a loss to overcome his attitude towards his fellow man. Man is still the hunter of prehistoric behavior. He is a cave man at heart, though he may live in a luxurious environment. He would change God's natural laws to suit his vanity. Man would become God and is desperately trying to do so. Power, money, wars of annihilation, hate — but very little love — guide man's destiny in these days of evil. We send our best young men into fratricidal wars, simply to keep up the material economy of our national enterprise. God has planted in man an instinctive motivation to fight to protect his territory. This same law extends throughout the animal kingdoms, which is a God-given natural law of survival. Does the United States dare to admit its error in sending our finest young men half way around the world to be ground into hamburger, when the only thing they can fight for is to get home again?

It is bad enough that an individual violates the laws of God, but when a nation is guilty of such an error, it should die!
